

Guide to sport fishing opportunities in the northern Southeast Alaska area

Northern Southeast Alaska is an area where the sport angler can keep busy all year long— You can fish for wild trout, salmon, and halibut, for stocked trout and salmon, and a variety of other species as well.

Information in this guide pertains to the Juneau, Haines, and Skagway areas, as well as northern Chichagof Island, Admiralty Island, and the mainland from Pt. League to Cape Fairweather. This information about fish and fishing gear, timing of fish availability, transportation, U.S. Forest Service cabin reservations, and more will help you plan your fishing trip in northern Southeast.

Please don't hesitate to contact our staff concerning information not presented in this guide.

Access to northern Southeast Alaska communities

Haines and Skagway are the only two area communities accessible by road. Juneau, the hub of area travel, is reached only by boat or aircraft. Most other communities in northern Southeast have limited road systems and are served by the ferries of the Alaska Marine Highway System.

By Air. . .

Alaska Airlines serves Juneau from Anchorage and Seattle year-round. Alaska Airlines also serves Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Yakutat, and Sitka year-round and Gustavus (Glacier Bay access) during the summer:

Air taxi and chartered aircraft are the main modes of transportation between communities. Some of the air taxi companies listed here have regularly scheduled flights to various area communities, and some are strictly charter. All area communities are served by at least one Juneau-based air taxi company. Several models of fixed wing aircraft are available for charter, ranging from Cessna 185's to deHavilland Otters.

As of 1997, you could expect to pay an hourly rate of around $250 for a Cessna 185, $350 for a Beaver, and $480 for an Otter.

By Land . . .

Major car rental companies have outlets in Juneau, Haines, and Skagway, all of which are ports on the Alaska Marine Highway System.

Campgrounds and RV parks are located in most communities served by the Alaska Marine Highway. Community visitor centers have more information on these facilities (see page 7).

By Water . . .

The Alaska Marine Highway System is very busy during summer. Reservations should be made well in advance (6 months to a year) at the AMHS office:

Facilities in northern Southeast Alaska

Excellent medical facilities exist in Juneau. All communities have medically trained personnel; however, facilities and pharmacy supplies are sometimes limited in outlying communities.

U.S. Forest Service Public Use Cabins

The U.S. Forest Service maintains many public use cabins throughout the Tongass National Forest. Many of these cabins are located in areas that provide excellent angling opportunities (see Remote Fly-in Lakes, p. 12). Boats are available at USFS cabins on lakes. For cabin information and reservations, contact the USFS at:

Boat Rentals

A boat is a real advantage when salmon fishing along marine areas—and a necessity for dependable bottom fishing. Boats of all sizes and types are generally adequate for fishing most areas.

Rental boats for use in marine areas are available in some communities in northern Southeast. In most instances, the number of rental boats available is small, so arrangements should be made in advance.

During the summer season, weather can be expected to keep smaller boats in port occasionally. Because water conditions can change very quickly, boaters should exercise extreme caution.

Fishing Charters, Guides, and Lodges

Saltwater charter services in Southeast Alaska are primarily fish guiding services from boats that serve a small group of anglers. Given the regulatory limit of six fishing lines per boat, no large “party” boats are used in Southeast, where 18 or 20 or more anglers are crowded onto one boat. Charter trips vary in type and duration from half-day to whole-day to multi-day. Many charter boat operators also guide clients into freshwater areas, but an increasing number of guides take clients only to streams and lakes. There are also sport fishing lodges throughout northern Southeast that cater almost exclusively to sport anglers. These are mostly located away from the major communities. Fishing guides and charters, as well as fishing lodges, can be contacted through the Juneau Visitors Guide and other community visitor centers.

State and National Parks

Most property in northern Southeast Alaska is under federal or state ownership, and public access is encouraged. However, some waters are bounded by private property on which public use is permitted by the landowner. If you are in doubt as to land ownership and public access, call the local Division of Sport Fish office for information.

Comfort and Safety

Weather throughout the area is very unpredictable, and if it's not raining, you can be sure that it will be before long. Good rain gear and boots are a must. Short boots are fine for some areas or for use with rain gear; however, hip boots and/or chest-waders are preferable for most shore-based fisheries. If you are camping, be sure to take along an abundance of rain-fly material.

Excellent populations of mosquitoes, white-sox, no-see-ums, and flies inhabit the area and can be depended upon to give you trouble if you do not have a good supply of insect repellent. Sometimes different brands of repellent are needed to deter the various types of insects. Insect-proof tents are practically a necessity, and head nets are needed in some areas.

Brown and black bears are common throughout Southeast Alaska. Seeing one of these magnificent animals can be a memorable part of one's trip; however, bears should be avoided whenever possible. The danger associated with bears is generally overrated, but bears are definitely very unpredictable—and encounters should never be taken lightly. In some areas, brown bears frequent favorite sport fishing locations and, on occasion, steal fish from anglers. When in bear habitat: (1) make noise so as not to surprise one; (2) do not keep food stored in or near your tent; (3) keep a very clean camp; and (4) do not camp on a game trail or alongside a stream full of spawning fish.

Common sense is the best bear protection available, but many people carry a firearm for additional protection; large caliber rifles of at least .30-06 ballistics or shotguns with slugs or buckshot are recommended. Familiarity with firearm operation is absolutely essential, as a bear can travel 50 feet in a second.
