SUBJECT: Twin Glacier Creek

The caption of the attached picture from the 6/29 "Empire" appears to describe activity within the scope of 16.05.870 (b). To the best of my knowledge, no approval has been requested or issued.

Superficially, this appears to be a simple flagrant violation of Title 16. However, the conspicuous public documentation leads me to wonder if perhaps some precedent is being established in this instance? Particular care should be given to the investigation of this violation.

OBSTRUCTIONS REMOVED—A Forest Service crew has worked its way up Twin Glacier Creek to remove several large rocks that have made navigation on the creek difficult for several years. The rocks were accessible for only a short period every spring after the ice had gone out and before high water covered them. This spring the rocks finally were removed. Pictured is Gerrit Plate, project foreman, watching while Sam Johnson drills holes in one of the boating hazards prior to placing charges for removal. (Forest Service photo)
