MT. GOAT PLAN BOUNDARIES
MUSKOX PLAN BOUNDARIES
BISON PLAN BOUNDARIES
The six management goals are:

1. To Provide for an Optimum Harvest
   - This goal emphasizes the opportunity for hunters to take large animals. It often will be similar to providing for an optimum harvest, because where the plan is limited by population objectives, the harvest structure will be managed to accommodate the harvest. Optimum harvest can be defined as the amount or level of yield that is most favorable to some specified end result, whether it is productivity or other goals.

2. To Provide for the Greatest Opportunity to Participate in Hunting
   - This goal recognizes the recreational value of hunting and emphasizes yield and harvest structure. Participation could be limited.

3. To Provide an Opportunity to Hunt Under Aesthetically Pleasing Conditions
   - This goal emphasizes the opportunity for hunters to take large animals. The maps are booklet corresponding to one of seven geographic regions of the state. A geographical description of the location of the area covered by each plan is included. Included is a questionnaire soliciting opinions about the*

4. To Provide an Opportunity to Hunt Larger Animals
   - This goal emphasizes the opportunity for hunters to take large animals. It is important that participation of hunters in such areas include natural opportunities to view, photograph and enjoy wildlife because they often require limiting the number of people who may enter. Participation could be limited.

5. To Provide for Scientific and Educational Study
   - This goal emphasizes the opportunity for hunters to take large animals. It is important that participation of hunters in such areas include natural opportunities to view, photograph and enjoy wildlife because they often require limiting the number of people who may enter. Participation could be limited.

6. To Promote the Creation and Maintenance of Undisturbed Wilderness Character
   - This goal emphasizes the opportunity for hunters to take large animals. It is important that participation of hunters in such areas include natural opportunities to view, photograph and enjoy wildlife because they often require limiting the number of people who may enter. Participation could be limited.

These goals reflect the basic objectives of the following explanations of undisturbed wilderness character, and regulation of other conflicting uses, separately or in combination. Human activities which adversely affect the aesthetic values are prohibited. Habitat is often capable of carrying the number of people who can be accommodated in these areas, but it cannot accommodate the number of people who would normally imply limits on participation.
