JUSTIFICATION:

The biological escapement goal (BEG) for Ayakulik River king salmon (4,800 to 8,400 fish) has not been met 6 of the last 10 years. Poor king salmon production statewide and very low escapements in the Ayakulik River justify prohibiting the retention of king salmon. Additionally, in order to reduce mortality, the use of bait is prohibited, and lures are limited to one single-hook, artificial lure within the Ayakulik River drainage. King salmon harvest opportunity may be allowed by subsequent emergency order if inseason assessment of the Ayakulik River king salmon run indicates the BEG will be attained.
