JUSTIFICATION:

The department has issued an emergency order to begin the late-run king salmon sport fishery in the Kenai River with bait prohibited. This will likely result in an increase in the sport fishing effort and catch of naturally-produced king salmon in the Kasilof River. The department manages the Kasilof River king salmon sport fishery to achieve a sustainable escapement goal of 650 - 1,700 naturally-produced king salmon as monitored through a weir at a department facility located on Crooked Creek. From 2016 - 2018, naturally-produced king salmon have had a declining trend in escapement, with 714 fish passing the weir in 2018. Restrictions that prohibited the retention of naturally-produced fish, prohibited use of bait and allowed only artificial lures were necessary to ensure the SEG for naturally-produced king salmon and to provide broodstock in 2018.

This emergency order to restrict the early-run king salmon sport fishery in the Kasilof River during 2019 is in part, a continuation of an incremental approach to maintain harvest opportunity while assuring the SEG of naturally-produced king salmon and stocking goals can be achieved as king salmon production throughout Cook Inlet has been low since 2009. This will help to determine if standard regulations can be restored, sustain natural production and maintain harvest opportunity in the Kasilof River king salmon sport fishery as well as other Southcentral Alaska king salmon sport fisheries supplemented by Crooked Creek hatchery stock.
