Commissioner

JUSTIFICATION:

The Gulf of Alaska fresh waters saw record low king salmon runs in many drainages in 2024 and 2025 and additional restrictions are needed for conservation of the king salmon runs in 2026. King salmon stocks throughout Cook Inlet and the Gulf of Alaska have returned at levels below established goals, triggering stock of concern designation for many of them. King salmon stocks are experiencing a period of low productivity and a more comprehensive and precautionary management approach to king salmon sport fisheries in the northern Gulf of Alaska is necessary. Additionally, the 2026 forecasts of king salmon stocks in Gulf of Alaska and Cook Inlet are below the lower end of established escapement goals warranting restrictions to king salmon sport fisheries throughout the region. These restrictions to Gulf of Alaska king salmon limits, in some cases in addition to management plans and actions taken by the Alaska Board of Fisheries, are warranted to reduce harvest of king salmon in these mixed stock fisheries.
