On May 5th, 2017 at 9:45 AM, I walked into [REDACTED]'s 3rd period World History Honors class. In the first few minutes of class he said that he had a meeting to attend and a substitute teacher comes in. Before he leaves I heard [REDACTED] say to the substitute teacher [REDACTED] that we would be just working on our maps all period. Once [REDACTED] leaves the class, [REDACTED] walks up to the front of the room and starts talking about an event that is taking place in Fairbanks that weekend, I can't recall the name of the event but I do remember her saying it would be on national television. Once she had talked about that for about 3-4 minutes she immediately pulls up a poster of wolves that were not killed inhumanely and says "This is what trappers and hunters are doing to wolves" after this she says, "Hunters are killing wolves from airplanes and have killed 100% of the wolves in Alaska". Given that I am a avid outdoorsman and a part of the "Alaska Trappers Association" I knew the facts she were given were not true so I decided to speak up. I raised my hand and told [REDACTED] "I don't think 100% of the wolves are dead in Alaska, I have seen wolves before out in the woods and I don't think that all of them are dead.". Then [REDACTED] said " I meant 100% of the wolves in Denali National Park are dead". Proceeding this a girl in the class raised her hand and said she saw wolves in Denali while biking last week. [REDACTED], "Oh wow! I'll be sure to report this!". Once this was over she kept talking about people are killing wolves and illegally killing ones with radio tags on them. As she was talking about wolves and radio tags she said "There are people in the state who are like Coke Wallace that are inhumanely killing wolves and not returning my radio tags, he owes me 10,000 dollars because of this". My family is friends with the Wallaces, and I did not support what she was saying at all because she was defacing his name in front of a class full of students. I told her she should not be making him look like such a bad guy in front of all these people who don't know him especially if he is not there to defend himself. She was justifying her actions by saying he is doing illegal things when trapping (luring wolves onto his property with bait) and that he owed her money. I asked [REDACTED] "Did the district allow you to speak on this manner", she said "Well, yes it is current events". After this I told her that she could be fired for giving opinionated views that could change a student's mind on a topic and she responded with "I do not care, I am very financially stable they can fire me". Once she noticed that I was not changing my mind she went to the other side of class that had kids who seemed to agree with her more. As she was talking to them my friends and I were talking about how crazy it was she was saying all of this. As we were talking I overheard [REDACTED] saying how bad bear bearing is bad and how it was inhumane it was to bears. I questioned her on this also, and she said that it does nothing but bad because it luers bears into towns and out of the woods and then they are killed. Eventually she went to the back of class and got on the phone and called the front office. A few minutes later she sent down a student to go retrieve something she had printed. Once it got to the room she tried to hand it to me, It was approximately 50-75 pages and had a picture of Coke Wallace with a dead wolf on it. She said, "here is a article you may want to read and there is a picture of your friend Coke Wallace on it for you". I declined the article because I guessed it was against what I believed in. Every time I would try and talk to defend someone or something she would raise her voice and speak over me. I did not get her name until the next day when I asked [REDACTED] for it. Every kid in the class who I heard talk about it, even the ones who agreed with her opinion said she was extremely disrespectful and unprofessional, and that she wasted a entire class period.
